How does it work?

Prizes are normally supplied by the event organizer. If you prefer you can sell books with a betting slip for each race before the night and use this as prize money on the night. (all betting slips are provided by proSound discos.) Eight races are run during the night with the person or people winning the most races winning the prize or prizes.

Charity Events (£10 discount)- A bet figure is decided upon (example £2). The customers can bet on as many horses as they wish in each race. After each race is run the money is divided into two. Half goes straight to the charity pot the other half split between the winners. Eight races in total a profitable night for charity!!
